From its inception in 1958, the American Security Council Foundation (ASCF) has championed the protection and sanctity of the United States of America.

1. ASCF initiated and led the bi-partisan, “Coalition for Peace through Strength,” of which President Reagan was an active member. He adopted this winning policy, which, along with the Coalition’s influence on Congress, helped end the cold war and the demise of the Soviet Union. See more on our history here.

2. The ASCF and the Coalition for Peace through Strength went on to advocate successfully for energy independence with the support of Congress. See more on our history here.

3. In 2012, ASCF conceived and nurtured the Step-Up America Program (SUAP), which educates young Americans on our history and values. The program is a great success and is in high demand. In January 2020, SUAP became its own non-profit 501 (c)(3) corporation. www.stepupamericaprogram.org
